“Cultural competency through the indigenous lens”

Monday, January 23, 2017, 6:30-8pm

This workshop, guided by Cindilee Ecker-Flagg, Executive Director of the Hamilton Native Women’s Centre, will provide an opportunity to experience and learn more about indigenous culture including:

- An opening smudging ceremony
- Traditional medicine
- Various First Nations, Metis and Inuit peoples within Canada
- Interconnectedness of physical, mental, emotional and spiritual understanding, practice and belief
- One Bowl and One Spoon teaching
- Proper use and appropriate terminology
- Stages of colonialism and their effects
- Historical images and stereotypes

This workshop is the first part of what we hope will be an ongoing educational opportunity.
